From The Editor's Desk

Back to the pictures, this issue! In fact, we've got a theme of pictures for this issue - just about every photo in the GTJ deals with the successful Rhythm on the Rails concert series Ray Axlerod put together. The events went very well, and were quite well attended. Thanks of course to Ray for pulling it together, all the museum volunteers who helped staff the concert evenings, and also all the sponsors for helping to make it happen.

The sponsors are, in no particular order: The Chronicle, Liberty Bank Gateway Commons and Willimantic Branches, Savings Institute Bank & Trust, and O.L. Willards Lumber. Thank you all!

No other updates?

There's been plenty brewing down at the museum, from work on the turntable, to some new donations. But due to some family commitments (as in I'm building the 2nd floor of our home this summer myself), I haven't been able to attend any meetings, or get down to the museum with any regularity. And you can plainly see how late the newsletter has been :-)
- thanks for your patience & understanding! Once the fall comes around, we should have more informative updates and a more timely publication schedule.

Thanks for reading & enjoy the issue!
