The Night Photo Shoot

By Robert A. LaMay

On a rainy and overcast evening on 6/9/07 the museum held its 4th Annual Night Photo Shoot. There were 17 photographers from CT., MA., NY, and NJ. The lighting was provided by Steve Berry, Editor of Railfan & Railroad magazine. This years shoot primarily set up by Tom Nanos included 8 different photo set ups. The rain held off most of the evening and around 10:30 it became more steady but this didn't dampen the task that needed to be completed. The shoot was over around 11:30 and everyone of the photographers left smiling and with many new memories and some new friendships.

A BIG THANK YOU

A BIG THANK YOU to everyone who had anything to do with this very successful event. The Tuesday and Saturday work and track crews, the various members who posed during some of the photos, the train crew for moving numerous pieces of equipment around for the photos. The lighting provided by Steve Berry another important component. Without any one of you this event would have never taken place. Again – THANK YOU VERY MUCH!

Random Thoughts on Stress.....
We read an article that said the typical symptoms of stress are: eating too much, impulse buying and driving too fast...
Are they kidding? That's our definition of a perfect day!!
